Re: Tax cuts for rich donors

Last week Sen. Lindsey Graham was one of several Republican to admit that the GOP's tax plan is only intended for its rich donors. He told a journalist that if they are unable to get this tax plan through congress, "the financial contributions will stop." So instead of doing what's best for our country and the middle class, they prefer plain and simple quid pro quo bribery.

If you're in the 1% who will benefit, I can understand selfishly wanting these tax cuts at the expense of everyone else (and to the detriment of our roads, schools, infrastructure, health care, Medicare and Social Security). But the other 99% of us should be writing and calling our so called representatives and telling them, enough is enough! These bought and paid for corrupt Republicans should be arrested, tried, convicted and put in jail just as any other criminal should be.
