Re: Will of God

Dear Editors,

President Bush seems to be a devout and well-meaning man who says that he is following the "Will of God". If that is true then does that mean that the "Will of God" is for him to bring chaos and destruction to Iraq instead of stability and democracy? Is it the "Will of God" to balloon the deficit to record levels, reward the already rich and corporate elite while sending good paying jobs overseas? Did God intend for George Bush to not find weapons of mass destruction in Iraq and instead ignore weapons of mass destruction in North Korea? Could it be God's Will to incite hate and violence throughout the world against Americans and for us to lose credibility among our former allies and whatever sense of noble purpose we ever had?

No, I say. This could not be "God's Will". But I humbly suggest that the next time George Bush starts praying again, he should carefully check for the distinct odor of sulfur in the air.
