

Architecture 281

Intermediate Architecture Design I

School of Architecture & Allied Arts

University of Oregon

Fred Tepfer

Department of Architecture

Fall 2003

Cafés and Bars: Program and Design Media Development

You may never get another assignment as pleasant as this one.

Spend some time in cafés, restaurants, and/or bars that might be appropriate models for our Corvallis building program. Bring along a sketch book and a sketching pencil (2B or softer, fat lead).

Don't measure anything except by eye. Record a furnished floor plan and draw an interior perspective at each visit. Consume plenty of beverages, and talk to someone else while doing this. Label each drawing with the location and date.

The purpose is to develop the habit of observing and drawing ALL OF THE TIME. It's not hard, it's a good habit, but it has to be encouraged and maintained.

Bring all of your results to studio on Monday.